Example of a Public-Private Innovation project

In collaboration with Aalborg University hospital and a private actor, One-Stop-Shop is in the process of testing a mobile bed-lift. The bed-lift allows the hospital's service personnel to clean the beds directly in the patient's room, and still meet the ergonomically required working conditions. The project is supported by One-Stop-Shop in the following way:

- One-Stop-Shop facilitates the contact between the private company and the involved professional groups at Aalborg University Hospital.
